Computer Science – Computer Systems Option

Computer science is the study of algorithms and problem solving. These problems apply to every scientific, engineering, and mathematical field, making computer scientists relevant in every professional field today. A computer science degree at Oregon State can give you the skills to program a custom low-level sensor board all the way up to coordinating cloud datacenters full of servers.

One of the benefits of the Systems option is its accreditation. The Computer Systems Option is accredited by the Computing Accreditation Commission of ABET, <http://www.abet.org> in both Bachelors of Science degrees and in Honors Bachelors of Science degrees. The Computer Systems option gives students the necessary training and preparation that many large companies (such as Google, Apple, and Intel) desire.

Your Bachelor's Degree (BS) in the College of Engineering

- A minimum of 180 credits are required for graduation; 60 must be upper division (300 and 400-level courses).
- A maximum of 135 credits earned at a community college may be applied toward a bachelor's degree at OSU.
- Some courses can count towards your major and the Baccalaureate Core. Advisors can assist in selection.
